@osteoanisha

'My professional approach is holistic; I think in terms of 360-degree well-being. I completely agree with Leitz's approach that thinks in terms of the whole body.'

As an osteopath, Anisha Joshi, author of 'Heal Your Back', highlights the importance of dynamic sitting, movement, and holistic ergonomic setups. Her personal experiences and patient testimonials underline how Leitz Ergo products alleviate pain and enhance productivity.

The IGR Institute for Health and Ergonomics are in full support of Leitz and have thoroughly examined many of their products to award the IGR quality seal. The main criteria for an "ergonomic product" is usability and adaptation to the requirements of different users, taking into account DIN 26800 EN ISO 15537. We know that no one person is the same, but everyone still deserves equally excellent working conditions!

STEP 2: Position your Screens

Working with a laptop for extended periods leads to haunching, neck and shoulder pain. Using a laptop stand helps to raise the laptop to align with your natural line of sight and creates space for a full size keyboard to be used which is also better ergonomically. A monitor arm lets you add additional screens while maximising desk space.

Leitz Ergo Space Saving Monitor Arm

Perfectly mount in tight spaces, allowing maximum depth of field and optimal visual ergonomics thanks to space saving construction.
